JAMES NURTON, Managing Editor, Managing Intellectual Property Magazine (MIP)

James Nurton is managing editor of the publication Managing IP. He studied history and trained as a journalist before joining Managing IP in 1996. He manages an editorial team in London, New York and Hong Kong, which is responsible for publishing the monthly magazine Managing IP, regular supplements, the annual IP Handbook Directory, the website managingip.com and various newspapers published at conferences such as INTA, AIPPI and AIPLA. Managing IP also hosts webseminars and conferences around the world.

In addition, James is a member of the MARQUES Communications and Membership Team, working on the monthly MARQUES newsletter, contributes a regular interview to OHIM's Alicante News newsletter and was formerly a member of INTA's Online Resources Committee. He regularly speaks and moderates discussions at IP-related events around the world, and also tweets on IP issues at @managingip.
